ABOUT SIR THOMAS TYLDESLEY'S

ABOUT OUR GROUP

Sir Thomas Tyldesley's Regiment is part of the English Civil War Society, a historical re-enactment group who take part in events across the country.

Our aim is to present exciting and spectacular battle recreations and living history displays to help your visitors learn about the English Civil War of the seventeenth century, one of the most tumultuous periods in British history.

We are excited to work with you to provide a service which can help your event to be a success.

OUR SERVICES

ALL OF OUR EVENTS ARE TAILORED TO FIT YOUR REQUIREMENTS AND BUDGET.

Sir Thomas Tyldesley's are committed to providing an event that all parties are proud of. We will work with you closely to provide an event that matches your requirements and aims.

We can provide entertainment for your visitors throughout the day and can attend an event of any size from a village fete to a large 'event' weekend at a historic venue. In addition to the services detailed, we may be able to offer additions such as parades and pre-event educational visits to schools.

TIME HAD BY US ALL;
THE AMOUNT OF TIME
THAT THE LIVING
HISTORY PEOPLE TOOK TO EXPLAIN
EVERYTHING WAS AMAZING’

LIVING HISTORY

Our living history encampment is one of our most popular services. We will create a civil war style encampment with re-enactors displaying aspects of civilian and military life during the civil war.

Our living history team members are highly skilled and knowledgeable and cover a range of skills including playing the lute, turning wood, embroidery and cooking in a field kitchen.

All of our re-enactors are happy to answer questions from your visitors and explain how civilians lived during the seventeenth century. The living history display will keep your visitors entertained throughout the day.

BATTLE DISPLAYS

Our battle re-enactments are one of the highlights of the day and a definite crowd pleaser!

Our displays include fighting with pikes, muskets and cannons and create lots of noise and smoke helping your visitors understand the uncertainty and confusion that a soldier would face on a seventeenth century battlefield.

We provide a commentator to tell the audience what is happening as the action unfolds and to explain the use of the drums and colours on the battlefield. The battle will be scripted in advance to be in line with your requirements, and, if relevant, reflect any local historical skirmishes.

DRILL DISPLAYS

In addition to the battle, our re-enactors can also present a drill display to demonstrate how seventeenth century weapons work and how a soldier would use them in combat.

We provide a commentator to explain the steps that the soldier would go through to load and fire their weapons, the tactics and role played by the pike block and the significance of the drum calls in a battlefield situation.

A drill display is an excellent complement to a larger battle display as it allows your visitors to learn about the types of weapons and tactics used prior to seeing them used in action later in the day.

EDUCATION

As a society, one of our key aims is to raise the profile of the English Civil War; this is an often an overlooked period despite being one of the most destructive and devastating conflicts in British history.

The English Civil War is part of the national curriculum at KS3 and a popular option for GCSE and A-level study. We can provide an experience that can complement these areas of study.

As part of our event, we can provide activities for children including children's drill and activity trails around our living history camp to encourage them to talk to our re-enactors and ask questions.
